What's new on the market

DONNERSTAG, 09.11.2017 11:30-13:00

Abstract João Matias

The European market seems to be volatile, being driven by both supply and demand. What drugs are used at night in Europe? What are the recent trends? Are these trends really 'new' or is just history repeating itself?

Nightlife settings mix opportunities, risks and pleasure. This poses challenges for monitoring, setting up responses and policies at European level.

More information than ever is out there available and the nighttime economy can be seen as a trendsetter, not only in cultural and social terms, but as a place of pleasure, ecstasy and excess, for which the use of substance plays a role, for many partygoers.
